been reported up to that time, despite a humidity of 48 and a calm sixteen mile north wind breeze. Yesterday's relief was promised by the weather men, however, the official forecast bore. Fair tonight and tomorrow, somewhat lower temperatures, moderate north to northeast winds.

All Eastern cities reported excessive temperatures, with prostrations, but Boston was the warmest spot in New England at 8 a. m. with the thermometer at 87 degrees.

HIGHER IN STREET.
Temperatures in the street were several degrees higher, and the beaches and country resorts were crowded early in the day.

The official temperature has risen to 92 at one o'clock with evidence of a further jump. A hot, shimmering weather was general today from Kansas eastward, the coolest place in New England being Bozpor, Maine, with a temperature of 82 degrees at eight a. m.

The Pacific mails, some department of the mills of the American Wool Company and several other smaller manufacturing concerns in Lawrence were shut down at noon because of the excessive heat. In some departments the workers were allowed to go to their homes this morning.

Temperatures from 1 o'clock this morning on were several degrees higher than yesterday, and one prostration was reported before 8 o'clock.

It was that of Mrs. May McCormack of East Boston, who collapsed at her place of employment, the Primmer Bag Company, Terminal Cold Storage building, No. 229 Commercial street, East Boston, she was removed to the East Boston hospital in an unconscious condition.

By 11 o'clock two more prostrations were reported, those of John Buckley, 24 years old of No. 17 Alder avenue, Mattapan, who collapsed at South Station and was taken to Haymarket Square Hotel, and John MacDonald, No. 12 Men do street, Roxbury, treated at East Boston Relief Station.

At 1 o'clock this morning the official thermometer on top of the Federal Building registered 92 as compared in 74 at the same hour yesterday. The mercury dropped to 78 at 4 o'clock, and then began a steady rise, hitting 92 at 11 o'clock.

On the street the figures were much higher, but the heat was held down by a sixteen mile northwesterly breeze, and the humidity was low. Early in the day an exodus began to the beaches, country parks and squares, and plans were made for railroad, railway and resort officials to accommodate tremendous crowds.

The dead:
Mrs. Nellie Rice, 41 years old, No. 23 Decatur street, Charlestown. Found dead sitting at her kitchen window.
Frederic A. Wall, forty-three years old, No. 12 Lowell street, Salem. Collapsed from heat while on ladder at No. 6 March street, Salem.

BAFFLED BY ACCUSED POISONER'S EYES

CHARGED WITH BROTHER'S DEATH

Here are two interesting studies of Mrs. Mary Creighton, who, with her husband, is charged with the poisoning of Mrs. Creighton's twenty-year-old brother, Raymond Avery, to collect his $2,000 insurance policy. Husband and wife are now on trial in New York court. Mrs. Creighton was removed from jail recently where she gave birth to a son. The photos reveal the inscrutable eyes of the accused woman as she faced the county prosecutor who declared that she daily administered small doses of arsenic to her brother.

Fenway Park, Haymarket Relief Station.

Grace Kennedy, twenty years old, No. 41 Alpine street, Roxbury, overcame on Washington street. Haymarket Relief Station.

Joseph Kennedy, No. 627 Massachusetts avenue. Overcome in his home, Haymarket Relief Station.

Louis Lombardi, twenty-nine years old, No. 133 Silver street, South Boston. Collapsed in the crowd at the circus grounds. City Hospital.

Leon Vivada, forty-four years old, No. 45 Tremont street, South Boston. Collapsed in front of No. 149 Massachusetts avenue, City Hospital.

Anne McClellan, thirty years old, No. 250 Vine street, Everett, collapsed in the Dudley street station, City Hospital.

William Peters, seventy years old, No. 42 Vinton street, South Boston, fell from a wagon when he was overcome with heat. City Hospital.

Frank Howard, No. 45 Westland avenue, East Boston, overcame in front of No. 121 Hamilton avenue, Back Bay. City Hospital.

Eight persons were drowned, seven of them children and one a girl, and one person died of pneumonia. Three convalesces were rescued by police.

Hyde Park Graduation
One hundred and fifty-two boys and girls were graduated today from Hyde Park High school, exercises being held in the Municipal building. The address was delivered by Judge Michael J. Murray of Central National Court.

NEW WITNESSES REVEAL POISON CASE SECRET

Newark, N. J., June 21.—Assistant County Prosecutor D'Almeida, conducting the State's case against Mrs. Mary Creighton and her husband, John, accused of poisoning Mrs. Creighton's brother, Charles R. Avery, was expected to conclude presentation of his evidence this afternoon with the production of two newly discovered witnesses.

The new witnesses were said to be two young men friends of Avery, who had obtained certain closely guarded facts from him a short time before his death, supposedly of arsenic poisoning.

Counsel for the Creightons indicated they would have their case in by Saturday, if the State rested today.

FREE ACCUSER OF MATCHES

ence at Atlanta, Ga., for using the mails in a scheme to defraud in connection with the notorious Emerson case, was one of seven prisoners given their freedom by the President.

His sentence, which he began to serve May 17, 1922, after having been sentenced January 5, 1914, has been commuted to expire August 17, 1923. He was sentenced to three years.

Despite the fact, matches, immediately attired and apparently the personification of nonchalance, appeared at Suffolk County court house in January of 1922 and testified against Pelletier.

He succeeded in introducing a petition for a pardon, dated November 9, 1921, directed to the President and signed by Matches.

GRAND JURY WITNESS.
The Pelletier trial did not proceed to the last three days of his sentence, and his stay then was comparatively short. For on January 5, 1923, he was summoned to appear by the grand jury called together by former Attorney General J. Weston Allen, and again testified in connection with the Emerson Motors case.

Matches' stay in Boston was much briefer than before, amounting to only a day or two, and the grand jury failed to bring in an indictment against Pelletier.

Now he has received Presidential clemency with a large number of other malefactors, and in a short time will be a free man.

STILLMAN MAKES A SURPRISE VISIT
New York, June 21.—James A. Stillman, former City National Bank head, whose family and love affairs have caused widespread gossip, surprised financial associates when he appeared at the Lido Club, Long Beach, at the annual golf tournament of the Bankers' Athletic League of New York. He is not entered in the games. He returned to a remote part of the clubhouse after hearing news of the tournament.

Recently Mr. Stillman was reported as having left for Europe.

ALLEGED THIEVES FREED IN COURT
Worcester, June 21.—Michael Russell, twenty-one years old, of No. 15 Wain street, arrested on a charge of breaking and entering the home of Fred Jaon of No. 181 Austin street, was discharged in District Court. Patrick Kellier, twenty-one years old, of No. 29 Belmont street, arrested with Russell, was held as a suspicious person, was also discharged.

COX ESCORTED TO HARVARD BY CAVALRY

Chair charged that Morgan's control of the Harvard college extended not only to the college presidents, but to the clergy which exercises much influence over these colleges.

Charles L. Hattery, Episcopal Bishop of Concord, of Massachusetts, referred to by Sinclair as "Mr. Morgan's Bishop," received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

WHAT EMERSON SAID.
Back up to his case against Harvard, Sinclair in his book about Emerson, who, writing in 1841, in "The Celebration of the Intellect," said:

"Harvard College has no vice in Harvard College, but State street votes it down on every ballot. All the youths come out of Harvard decrepit citizens—not a prophet, not a poet, but a ragged or stuffed or driven away."

For thirteen years, Sinclair charges, Harvard has been under the administration of a corporation lawyer of Boston—A. Lawrence Lowell. Sinclair says of Lowell:

"He belongs to the Lowell family of Boston, who are among the Boston families. To him Harvard is a close corporation, a family affair of the vested interests of New England."

Lowell explained to the students, and class repression are written all over the curricula at Harvard. The modern revolutionary movement is controlled by HIGGINS.

The house of J. P. Morgan & Co. explained to the students, and the so they are out ready to believe the grotesque falsehoods served up to them by the Boston Transcript, is closely allied with the Boston elite.

He was preceded by the band and followed by the alumni in order of seniority of classes to the quadrangle, where the altar of Harvard, in its uniform of blue and gold, called the meeting to order by striking the hour three times with his sword.

Professor Edward C. Moore, chairman of the Board of College Teachers, opened the ceremonies with prayer.

banking house of Lee Higginson & Co. Mr. Morgan, not being a resident of Harvard, has left the control of Harvard to Lee Higginson, so as to be able to control Columbia, the president, is Morgan's tool and servant.

"Slaves in Boston's great department stores," Sinclair writes, "are those which Harvard University owns 2500 shares of stock, he reminded to your long hours and low wages and sentences to die of tuberculosis—because upon the wealth which you produce some learned person has produced for mankind full data on The Strong Verb in Chaucer."

"Police men have had your spirit smothered by Harvard students," Sinclair writes, "because of these students has enlightened mankind on The Struggle of the Individual in Shakespeare."

"Girls who work in the textile towns of New England and part your virtue for the price of a sandwich, he rejoined—because you have made it possible for humanity to be formed concerning the value of Sublimity in Layman's Brute."

"Others who received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Harvard were William Leon MacKenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, and James Earl Byrd of Virginia, member of the General Education Board of the University."

Accompanied by a large body of a troop of cavalry, Governor Cox followed tradition in his state to the Harvard Commencement exercises today.

It is shown were closed twenty-four hours after Seymour L. Cromwell, president of the Exchange, had said an investigation had proved the falsity of rumors of impending failure. Failure of the firm caused a bad break in the market, more than 40 per cent of the stock popular shares hitting the downward path with losses of from 2 to 3 points.

Cromwell said in an interview he had no knowledge of the impending crash when he made his optimistic statement and declared it was "statement of the moment."

The firm announced its liabilities at approximately $7,000,000 and $2,000,000. Negotiations for loans from banks on these assets failed in materials, however, and Gordon Associates was appointed receiver in $50,000 bond. J. P. Morgan & Co. was among the firms approached in efforts to organize a loan, but Thomas Cochrane, a member, said when the call for help came it was decided it was too late for his firm to extend aid.

The State of the Union
Thunder and Atheism
—By Arthur Brisbane—

THURSDAY Was a crowd in front of No. 170 Broadway in lower New York city yesterday. Metal doors were locked, a detective was saying "Move on." "I don't know what it is. I guess they're counting money," said a small boy.

Mrs. Mary was busy inside steel wire cages inside the locked doors. They were counting money, perhaps, also counting the lack of it. It was the counting room of Zimmerman-Pfeiffer, a Wall Street house, in trouble.

IN HONOR of the occasion Wall Street got frightened, prices went down, yet there was nothing in this second of two recent failures to frighten sensible investors.

It will be found that foreign exchange, the sudden terrific drop in the value of European money—especially that of Germany—is largely responsible for these failures.

A MAN THAT took out life insurance for $5,000 in Germany on the Tontine plan years ago mentioned the fact that his policy had matured, and he got in American cash something less than 20 cents. With money dropping like that, something is bound to happen. It is a question of time and will continue happening if Europe doesn't make up its mind to stop fighting, stealing, invading.

Don't gamble. If you have anything to invest, remember that the United States is a good country for investments.

HENRY FORD denies that he ever denied that he will run for President. That's what stands to date.

Ford has made the world's success by producing one thing, finding that he could do it well, and refusing to change his model.

There will be a great change in his career and in his story if he makes up his mind to try for the Presidency.

The job forces new responsibilities, new decisions and new "models" on the man who holds it.

PRESIDENT HARDING, who will run for the Presidency, and, according to the present and unimportant opinion of this writer, will be re-elected, is on his way, telling the people what he has done, "report directly to the people on the state of the Union."

HE WILL be able to report to the public that "the Union" is doing extremely well. Its dollar is worth one hundred cents. Its people are busy and getting big wages.

Farmers are not getting what they ought to, but a little common sense will give it to them.

"The Union," thanks be to heaven, is free from European control, by leagues or world courts and any other foreign influence, and if we know enough to let well enough alone, "the state of the Union" need not bother us for many a day to come.

THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNIST announcement at Moscow includes this:

"Our program is based on scientific materialism, which includes, unconditionally, the necessity of propagating atheism."

Let a thousand profound Communists sit discussing "the propagation of atheism" and proving to each other that there is no God. Then let a bad thunder

6 ESCAPE DEATH AT CLINTON; USE KNOTTED BED SHEETS

Clinton, June 21.—Knocking sheets, together Antonio Devolito and five others escaped death by sliding down a window today when flames swept the three-story wooden block they were living in on High street.

Thirty tenants of an adjoining building fled to the street when the wooden window casings started blazing.

The damage is estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000.

The fire is believed to have started in the laundry of Sam Lee. It spread with great rapidity and narrowly missed trapping Devolito and the Chinese.

Other tenants having stores which were burned out are Salvatore Doria, tobacconist; Henry W. David, women's wear; Philip Brothers, coal; Clinton Candy Shop and Clinton Confectionery.

The state road is believed responsible for the saving of the Antonio block, a four-story brick building.

BERENGARIA TO TEST DRY SHIP RULE ALSO

Southampton, June 21 (AP)—The Cunard liner Berengaria, which sailed for New York last Saturday, carried sufficient alcoholic liquor for her return voyage under the same kind of lock and seal as that employed by the White Star liner Olympic, which sailed yesterday. How many do you think would be left among the one thousand Communists?

HOW MANY of them would be saying with Napoleon, as he looked at the stars from the deck of the ship carrying him to St. Helena, "Say what you please, somebody made all that?"

You will find a majority of your 1,000 Russian Communists, as they listened to the crashing and banging, saying, "Somebody made all that."

ATHERISM IS CHILD'S THEORY, teaching it is idiotic. Voltaire expressed the wisdom of time:

"If there had been no God, it would have been necessary to invent one."

Men have invented all kinds of gods, and invented much brutality in the process. Progress is marked by the character of the particular gods that represent the particular period. Our chief trouble now is that our idea of God is a good deal higher than anything we are fit for.

We have millions of sanctimonious individuals on Sundays, worshipping one that gave his life for others, and on week days squeezing the life blood out of as many of "the others" as possible.

SLAYER "WED" MAN TO ESCAPE DRAFT DURING WORLD WAR

DUAL ROLE BARED BY LEGAL WIFE

Posed as "Cabaret Girl" While Living as "Married Woman" in Chicago Flat

Chicago, June 21.—Fred C. Thompson, held as the bandit who, disguised as a girl, slew Richard C. Tamm, became a still greater enigma today when police questioning revealed that he has been playing the role of husband to a woman while at the same time passing for the wife of a man. Both were arrested with him.

Known to neighbors as Mrs. Frances Carrick, a talented singer and industrious housewife, Thompson has lived for some time with Frank Carrick, a musician, in a two-story building in which he and wife, Marie Clark, maintained an apartment, according to the officers.

Invited Draft in War. The woman and Carrick, married Thompson in order to be exempted from military service in the war, and, detectives said they found such a connection confirmed. Carrick said they had been married thirteen years and that it was six months after the ceremony before he learned Thompson was a man.

Meanwhile, the police are searching for another man as the companion of the bandit who held up "Sam" and his wife on the night of June 2 and shot, the former taking a few valuables.

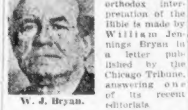

Thompson vigorously protests innocence, although two alibis which he presented have been shattered. The police plan today to dress him as a man and again take him before Mrs. Tamm.

STILL POWERS FACE. Thompson faced his interrogators today still clad in the black gown, silk stockings and high-heeled slippers which he wore at the time of his arrest. His appearance was made inconspicuous by the two-day growth of beard which has penetrated the layers of powder and rouge he still applies to his face.

SEEK TO EXTRADITE EX-BULGAR OFFICIALS. Sofia, June 21 (U.S.P.).—The Bulgarian revolutionary government today asked the extradition of M. Daskaloff, former Bulgarian minister to Czechoslovakia, and M. Obort, former member of the Alexander Stambouly government, both of whom have taken refuge in Italy. The government would put them on trial charged with anti-government agitation.

BRYAN DISTURBED OVER RIDICULE

Chicago, June 21.—A protest against alleged ridicule and misrepresentation of his views accepting the orthodox interpretation of the Bible is made by William Jennings Bryan in a letter published by the Chicago Tribune.

W. J. Bryan. "If I were alone in my views," Mr. Bryan wrote under date of June 14, from Miami, Fla., "I might expect to be ridiculed, but it so happens that those which I hold on this subject are held by a large majority of members of all the Christian churches." Mr. Bryan says that the objection raised in the Florida Legislature is to the teaching of evolution "as a true or a proven fact."

YOUR FOOD PURCHASING DIFFICULTIES SOLVED

A THURSDAY FEATURE

Are you at a loss as to where you can secure some particular brand or kind of foodstuffs? If so, write the Boston American Food Query Editor. We will answer your inquiry in these columns as quickly as possible.

Food Query Editor:
The question I am about to ask might be a little out of your line, but as it relates to food you might be able to help me out. We have at home a new egg rack and it is supposed to be a very fine make, but it won't hold up a single egg. However, what I am trying to do is to find a rack that will hold a dozen eggs in this I have heard there was a way to keep eggs such as in glass cases, etc., during winter when it is so hot for them. I have four days without having it turn dark and small hatch. Certainly have not been able to keep any, even though we buy the best.

MRS. W. H. S.
Rock Bay, Boston, Mass.
The using of so much ice in a box is not always the fault of the refrigerator. First of all, it is essential to choose a good, cool location for your ice box, and in the second place, to keep some ice filled with ice at all times. Do not let the ice melt away to a small piece, because this allows the chest to become warm, and when it is filled again the heat will cut up the new ice very rapidly, but if the ice is kept full of ice you will find it quite saving on your ice bill. In regards to the keeping of the eggs, would suggest that you take a plaster large enough to hold meat without putting one piece on top of another; place this plaster in your ice box on hour or two before you expect to receive your next lot of eggs, and they will be well chilled. Turn meat out of hands immediately and put on plaster and put in chest. Turn over meat every day and I am sure you will find it keeps better for a week longer than you have been able to up to the present time.

SMITH'S ORPHAN ASKED AS PERFECT

The trustees of the Avon Home have put the stamp of approval on the orphan farm of John Smith at Acton and declared they place absolute confidence and trust in all that Mr. and Mrs. Smith do for and with the children placed in their care.

The vote of confidence comes as the result of charges made against the Smiths by neighbors a few days ago, when seventeen-year-old Louise Smith ran away from the farm and hid in the barn of a neighbor. The girl solemnly told the neighbor that she had been beaten by Mrs. Smith.

A father started in the neighborhood and Mrs. Benjamin Pope, wealthy resident of Acton, went to the State House and complained.

CHARGES PROBED
A thorough investigation of the charges and of the farm was made by the trustees of the Avon Home, from which the children went to the Smith farm. The investigation resulted in a clean bill of health for the Smiths and their farm.

A Boston American reporter visited the Smith home and investigated conditions. He found all the children playing happily about the farm, apparently having a wonderful time. Two of the boys were racing on bicycles. Others were rolling hoops and others were running around "tag" the farm dog.

PROTECTION OF RIVERS OF NEW ENGLAND

By BERT FORD
A new and novel court of appeal has been created in this city. It is of interest to Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen. It is a product of the Better Business Commission of Boston.

It owes its origin to one honest desire of all reputable financial and merchandise firms to establish clear and more satisfactory relations between business houses and their customers.

It is a sort of clearing house for customers' complaints, where those who feel that they do not receive a square deal can tell their story and be assured of proper consideration and action, even to the point of investigation by the district attorney.

CONSUMERS' ARMS.
Mr. Mumford when asked what prompted him to accept the helm of the Better Business Commission said:

"Because I am interested in anything that tends to improve business standards. The object of our organization is to protect the honest consumer from fraud on customers by misrepresentation, either in or out of advertisements."

SCOPE IS EXTENSIVE
"There is a board of directors and executive committee and standing committees on publicity, advertising, merchandise, and committees on investigations, house, bond and stock selling. Our range takes in the Blue Sky regulations, as well as advertising and merchandising."

INVESTORS WARNED
The financial department investigated promotional stock offered to the public and will furnish information free of charge. This department has adopted the slogan:

SACCO RETRIAL PREDICTED BY LA GUARDIA

A promise of starting disclosure that will surprise not only Massachusetts but the entire nation is an expression of utmost confidence in the justice of the Massachusetts courts marked the visit to Boston of Congressman F. H. La Guardia, of New York, now counsel in the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

"Today I conferred with Vanzetti to try a remedy for freedom with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freedom. While it does give you a free complication the expense is trifling."

EXPERT DESCRIBES THE PROPER USE OF INSULIN FOR DIABETES

DANGEROUS DRUG, SAYS BRIGHAM

Greatest Efficacy to Malady When Administered by Trained Specialists

"Insulin is a dangerous drug except when properly administered," said Dr. F. G. Brigham of No. 35 Bay State road, Back Bay, one of the specialists who will assist in teaching New England physicians how to use the new substance for treatment of diabetes, the dread disease which annually kills thousands of persons. That instruction will take place at the New England Deaconess Hospital, Boston.

Dr. Brigham told a Boston American reporter he knew of three persons who were killed from shock as

Explains Insulin Its Dangers and Its Value

Q.—What is insulin? A.—A pancreatic extract.

Q.—Who discovered it? A.—A young Canadian physician, Dr. F. G. Banting.

Q.—Is it a dangerous drug? A.—Yes, unless properly administered it will kill.

Q.—How is it administered? A.—In liquid form by means of a hypodermic.

Q.—How much does it cost? A.—For average cases one day's supply of 11 units costs from $3 to 41 cents.

Q.—Can a person having diabetes administer it to himself? A.—Yes, after proper instruction in a hospital where he should remain for from two to three weeks.

Q.—Where, in Boston, can treatment be obtained? A.—At the following hospitals: New England Deaconess, Peter Bent Brigham, Massachusetts General City Hospital.

The result of taking overdoses of the new drug he said they died shortly after 20 units of insulin had been administered. The ordinary normal fast is one unit.

"The public should be properly informed regarding insulin," said Dr. Brigham. "Insulin is a liquid substance, given hypodermically which supplies to the body that which is lacking due to a disease condition of the pancreas. The person who takes it once will probably have to continue to take it as it does not help rejuvenate the pancreas. It merely helps throw off the sugar in the blood, when the pancreas is unable, through disease, to do so."

METHOD OF USE.

"Insulin is injected hypodermically from 15 minutes to an hour before meals, according to the particular need of the patient. It is injected, once, twice, three times, four times and sometimes often, each day. All persons who have diabetes and who think they need insulin should be in a hospital for the first treatment, as education is fundamental in the treatment of the disease. If a physician cannot advise a person accurately regarding the use of insulin it is best to seek expert advice. The first treatment in a hospital should cover a period of from two to three weeks and will cost from $25 to $50 a week, but that will not cost anywhere near as much as what is usually paid by diabetics who have been going to physicians twice a week for years."

INITIAL TREATMENT.

"Following the initial treatment, in a hospital insulin must be injected by the patient or some member of his or her family as it would be impossible for every person who has diabetes to have a physician inject it at the proper time before meals. All my patients are giving themselves their injections or are having relatives do it."

"The average dosage is 21 units a day but more may be necessary at the start and less eventually, as the sugar is thrown off by the body. The dosage depends on the type of disease and its severity. In many cases of diabetes insulin is not necessary. Minimize over weight and 80 per cent, representing the mild cases of diabetes, will be prevented.

DIET IMPORTANT.

"While we do not know what causes acute diabetes, such as has caused the death of many children, we do know that overeating is responsible for most of the milder cases. When excess weight is eliminated the trouble disappears. Diet is just as important as ever when insulin is administered. Without accurately weighed diets insulin is a dangerous drug. This drug may produce life indefinitely, provided the patient takes the proper care of his diet. With our present knowledge we are convinced that a large majority of diabetics should not have insulin. All that is needed in most cases is proper dieting."

"Between 350 and 400 persons who have diabetes are being treated in Boston with insulin at present. Of these Elliott P. Joslin is treating about 300 and I am treating 40. Clinics have been organized for educational purposes."

"The price of insulin was originally five cents per unit, but it can now be obtained for from three to four cents. It is the idea of all, including manufacturers, to see that patients obtain insulin for what it costs. This makes the average daily cost of the substance from 21 to 41 cents per patient. It should not be used without accurate diet."

Dr. Brigham said that the New England Deaconess Hospital is getting more applications for treatment than it can handle, but hopes, through the special courses for physicians being conducted there four days every week, to meet the demand. The courses are free to physicians and nurses.

STATE PUTS BAN ON MIDWAYS AT FAIRS

The State turned thumbs down today on Hybla, the stonous snake charmer. Also on "Three-Card Mike," whose stock in trade is a gun, three shells and a collection of soft-money licks. Dr. Arthur W. Gilbert, State commissioner of agriculture, declared that the State would make no contribution this year to any county fair which permits gambling or which allows an elaborate midway to divert attention from the cows, chickens and crazy quills. The State gives about $25,000 a year for prizes to agricultural fairs.

Given Decree

MRS. J. M. PERKINS.

The right to resume the name of her first husband, from whom she was divorced several years ago, was given to Mrs. Josephine M. Conway of Newton, when she was granted a decree nisi from her second husband by Chief Justice W. T. Folger in Suffolk Divorce Court. The woman said that she did not want to resume her maiden name, preferring to be known as Mrs. Josephine M. Perkins.

The second husband, Thomas W. Conway, now of St. Louis, did not contest the case. The wife chafed her husband with deserting her only a few weeks after she welcomed him back from France in 1919, where he had been serving with the American navy. They were married early in 1918.

GIRL'S HEAD ON NUDE FIGURE; SHE SUES

New York, June 21.—Asserting that A. Stirling Calder, well known sculptor, had used, without her consent, a model of her head on the figure of the nude body of another girl, and exhibited it as a composite work resulting in her husband leaving her, Mrs. Charles U. Lind today took the first step in what she said would be a suit for $250,000 damages. She said today that when she was a member of the Art Students League in 1911, Calder, then her instructor, had her pose for a model of a head. The next thing she knew a photograph of a statue, "The Last Day," was published in a magazine, the head being her likeness and the nude body of another girl.

Before the photograph was published she was married and when it appeared she was unable to convince either her husband, her brother-in-law or her friends that she had not posed for the entire body.

There seems to be some question as to what constituted the crime and infidelity.

The woman is a physician of considerable local reputation. She has been in California for many months, having left her husband, Lewis' right name is Robert Fredrick.

"STRANGLER" GETS RID OF HIS CRUEL WIFE

Ed Lewis, inventor of the headlock—a giant wrestling hold and standing more than six feet, gained before a woman left her and she was a suit for $250,000 damages.

BOOSTER'S CLUB IS MERRY AT NANTASKET

Leopold Morse Co. Booster's Club held their banquet last evening at shore gardens, Nantasket, where C. Morse, president of the company, and other members of the club attended. The entertainment committee consisted of Harry O'Neill, president, A. Crowley, vice-president, Max Berchard, secretary, and Otto Jacob. The banquet was followed by an entertainment given by the members of the club.

Tokio—Eight deaths on land, nine on sea, by terrestrial rains were reported today. It is feared the casualties are higher. Hundreds are homeless. Fifteen hundred houses were flooded near Nantasket.

Keeps Children's Hair Beautiful

Proper shampooing is what makes children's hair beautiful. It brings out all the real life and lustre, the natural wave and color, and makes it soft, fresh and luxuriant. Children's hair simply needs frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, but fine young hair and tender scalps cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soap. The free alkali in ordinary soap, soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it. This is why millions of discriminating mothers, everywhere, use Multisifted Coconut Oil Shampoo.

This clear, pure, and entirely greaseless product cannot possibly injure, and does not dry the scalp or make the hair brittle, no matter how often you use it.

One million new users this year for Royal Cords

If you have never used Royal Cords—think about this—

WITHIN ten days after the United States Rubber Company announced their three new basic discoveries in rubber manufacture, the effect upon tire buyers was felt from Coast to Coast.

Frankly, such a response as this to an announcement is not usual in the tire business.

But in these U. S. discoveries both the experienced car owner and tire dealer see two unusual elements.

One element is the discoveries themselves—

Flat Band Process—ensuring the positive length, angle and strength of each cord.

Web Cord—the first successful method of impregnating cords with pure rubber by direct soaking in the latex itself.

Sprayed Rubber—the first absolutely pure rubber marking a development in tire manufacture that fairly deserves the term "revolutionary."

The other element is that these discoveries apply to U. S. Royal Cords.

In short—here is U. S. leadership demonstrating itself again by making an already fine product an even higher money's worth.

BROCKTON SHOE STRIKE MARKED BY MANY INCONSISTENCIES

NEW UNION REBELLED AT WAGE ADVANCE NOW ASKS ONLY RECOGNITION

This is the first of four articles on the labor troubles in the shoe industry of Brockton and the Old Colony district. They explain features of the peace agreement which has been in force a quarter of a century and the causes and effects of the present strike.

By CHARLES D. POWER

The official name of the shoe strikers' organization is the Brockton and Old Colony Shoe Workers' Union. The real leaders of the strike are Joseph E. McCarthy, president; Dennis E. McCarthy, secretary; and Edward Talbot, assistant secretary. McCarthy is a smart fellow and a good talker. McCarthy is a clever speaker.

One of the most interesting characters in the Brockton shoe industry is Adeline Lamolette from Montreal. He is a brother-in-law of McCarthy and by many is considered to be the "master mind" of the strike movement. Richard C. Ford, former business agent of the Old Colony local for several years, is another prominent figure in the strike.

Peaceful picketing has been permitted at all the factories. There is some talk about applying for an injunction to restrain the strikers from further picketing, but the local leaders of the Brockton and Old Colony shoe workers' union are not disposed to take the initiative in this matter nor are they.

WANT EXCLUSIVE UNION.

Strikes leaders say Samuel Compston, president of the American Federation of Labor, was all wrong in his statement that the strike was a result of the shoe workers' demand for a 10 percent wage increase. They say the strike was a result of the shoe workers' demand for a 10 percent wage increase.

Several strike leaders declared the contract between the shoe workers and the manufacturers is not so sacred as people seem to think, yet they admit they will waive all claims to more pay if they can obtain recognition of their organization from the manufacturers with an agreement relative to local arbitration for the settlement of disputes. There seems to be some difference between the words "contract" and "agreement."

The statement of the strikers that production has been seriously hampered is offset by the showing of steadily increasing shipments.

Strike leaders keep telling their followers that two local shops have agreed to negotiate with them, despite the fact that the managers of the shops say there is no truth in the statement.

ACCEPTING SUPPORT.

Strike leaders also say they have reason to believe the majority of the shoe workers in Brockton and Old Colony are in sympathy with the strike. They say the majority of the shoe workers in Brockton and Old Colony are in sympathy with the strike.

Some strike leaders are severe in their condemnation of the old union as a "manufacturers' union," yet they are not averse to accepting support from a New Bedford organization which is known as a textile manufacturers' favored union.

The case of the strikers seems to have simmered down to this: At first they wanted more pay, being dissatisfied with the increase awarded by the State Board of Arbitration, and so some walked out and others followed, about 2,500 in Brockton out of the possible 13,500, and the same ratio in thirteen towns out of 2,500.

DEMAND LOCAL BOARD.

Then they demanded recognition of their union. They demanded a local arbitration board. They insisted that, in the event of a settlement in their favor, which they expected, those who did not join with them would in some way be penalized.

Now they are willing to waive everything but recognition. They say they will hold out for that in the event of a settlement in their favor, which they expected, those who did not join with them would in some way be penalized.

the shoe manufacturers' association. With which element does the majority sentiment of Brockton and the South shore towns lie? The strikers and their friends are doing a great deal of loud and positive talking. There are many people looking who are directing the curb along conversation in favor of the strikers.

It is significant, however, that the Brockton Central Labor Union, comprising about 4,500 members, has opposed the strike in strong resolutions and informed the stand of the local which has remained loyal to the Brockton and Old Colony shoe workers' union. But the strike will go on, says Mr. Talbot, speaking for the strikers, in defiance.

Here are some of the inconsistencies in the situation. The strike leaders claim that the old local has suffered losses in membership ranging from 10 to 20 percent, to 50 percent. These losses are said to be their gain, but, as a matter of fact, the financial books of the old local prove that there have been no losses during the last six months.

Obviously, some alleged strikers are playing both ends during the last six months. In one breath strikers will tell you that the State Board of Arbitration is no good, while Mr. Talbot, their publicity man, admits that in his opinion, Edward Fisher, chairman of the board, is an honest man and that Samuel Ross of New Bedford, who is supposed to represent labor on the board, must be a pretty good fellow, because he has rendered a New Bedford textile meeting at which promises of financial support of the Brockton strike were made.

Strikes leaders say Samuel Compston, president of the American Federation of Labor, was all wrong in his statement that the strike was a result of the shoe workers' demand for a 10 percent wage increase. They say the strike was a result of the shoe workers' demand for a 10 percent wage increase.

He does not know anything about the real conditions, they insist. WANTS EXCLUSIVE UNION.

Affiliation with the great national labor organization which comprises Brockton and Old Colony shoe workers and shoe makers along the South Shore still, the strike leaders seem to think unions affiliated with the American Federation should contribute to their strike efforts.

Several strike leaders declared the contract between the shoe workers and the manufacturers is not so sacred as people seem to think, yet they admit they will waive all claims to more pay if they can obtain recognition of their organization from the manufacturers with an agreement relative to local arbitration for the settlement of disputes. LEFT WITHOUT WATER ON HOTTEST DAY

VICTIMS OF UNPAID TAXES

This house on Federal street, Brockton, and two others on the same street were without water during the hottest day in the year, because Mrs. Louise M. Abrahamson, the owner, it is alleged, failed to pay her water taxes. Children and other tenants of the house were forced to carry water from nearby neighbors' homes. Water in the three other houses owned by Mrs. Abrahamson, was turned on when complaint was made to Christopher Garvin, city division engineer, that sick persons and children were suffering from lack of water. Thomas Goldberg, at left, and David Lieberman, with ball, together with Harriet Shulkin, in insert, were among the children deprived of water.

BERENGARIA LOADED FOR A "WET" RETURN

Southampton, June 21 (AP)—The Cunard liner Berengaria, which sailed for New York last Saturday, carried additional alcoholic liquors for her return voyage under the same kind of local act and as that controlled by the White Star Line's Olympic, which sailed yesterday. It was learned today.

A showdown over the question whether British ships can satisfy the third of their passengers on their trips from dry America to wet England therefore seems likely to come sooner than had been expected.

The Berengaria is due in New York tomorrow.

THE END.

BARE FARRAR'S INFLUENCE IN PRINCE'S LIFE

Berlin, June 21.—Gertrude Farrar, the American opera star, figures more prominently than any other woman in the household, "The German Crown Prince and the Women of His Life," by Guido Krugner, which is soon to come from the press.

The long expected book is filled with more with reference to the relation than to the influence that women had upon the life of the crown prince's life, beginning at the Bonn University days, extending through his friendship with Mrs. Farrar, then singing at the Royal Opera in Berlin, and then to his acquaintances made in France during the war.

The majority of the women are referred to only by initials only. Mrs. Farrar and one other woman are mentioned by name.

The book seeks to show the nature of the influence that women had upon the life of the crown prince's life, beginning at the Bonn University days, extending through his friendship with Mrs. Farrar, then singing at the Royal Opera in Berlin, and then to his acquaintances made in France during the war.

DRIVER KICKS AT 5,000 HORN BLASTS

Horned Cattle of the New Pacific House, Nantasket, was fined $5 in the Dorchester Court by Judge Churchill, charged with failure to blow his horn on his motorcycle at an intersecting street.

"There are about 5,000 corners between here and Nantasket, and it is a physical impossibility to blow your horn at every corner," Custin told the court.

VALENTINO SUED ON $45,000 BILL

New York, June 21.—The nagged of Rodolph Valentino, movie star and tango dancer, to pay his lawyer's bill resulted in the seizure by a deputy sheriff of the actor's total tangible assets in this city, amounting to about $20,000. Arthur Butler Graham, an attorney, No. 25 West 40th street, third floor, Rodolph Valentino owes $45,000 for legal services of which only $20,000 has been paid. A contract by a beauty shop concern agreeing to pay Mr. and Mrs. Valentino $6000 a week for 13 weeks was also seized.

DOOMED AS AUTO DROPS IN RIVER

Peabody Man Parishes: Companion Saved and Placed Under Arrest

Danvers, June 21.—One man was drowned and his companion was rescued after a struggle in the Danvers River today, when the automobile in which they were riding shot through the rail of a wooden bridge opposite the Danversport railroad station and dropped into the water.

The dead man is Frank A. Nunes, twenty-three years old and married, of No. 45 Fulton street, Peabody. M. G. Maderia, thirty-five years old, of No. 145 Main street, Peabody, owner and operator of the machine, was saved by Charles Maltby, of No. 2 Riverside street, Danvers. The police arrested Maderia for operating without a license.

Maderia and Nunes were on their way to work at the Salem-Land Carriage Company in Danversport, and according to the police were traveling at a rapid pace. It is believed the steering gear broke, and the car tumbled through the rail and dropped into the river, in which the tide was high.

Nunes, who was riding in the front seat with Maderia, was swept out of the car into the water. The driver managed to free himself from the machine, and was struggling in the river when Maltby, passing on his way to work, leaped to the rescue.

WARN MOTHERS AS AUTO KILLS 78TH CHILD

"Mothers here is another example of what may happen when you permit your children to play in the streets." Rosanna Plausse is dead.

The six-year-old child, a right child, was killed by an automobile in this state since December.

This is the warning of Reginald A. Goodwin, Boston, the five-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Plausse, of Whitman, was run down by the automobile of Charles Burgess, No. 100 Clifton avenue, Brockton, while playing in the street in front of her home. Rosanna lived with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Plausse, No. 25 Broad street, Whitman.

She was taken to the Brockton Hospital, where she died from her injuries.

"Mothers," repeated Mr. Goodwin, "here is another example, pathetic as were all the fatalities of the imperative duty of warning your children against automobiles."

"Off you live where your children must play in the street, warn them when they see an automobile approaching to run up on the sidewalk."

"Let them see to cross the street (and they have looked both ways and made sure no auto are approaching."

Husband's Business Mystery

MRS. ROSE KURIAN

The woman who does not know her husband's business has been found. She is Mrs. Rose Kurian of West Cedar street, West End. Testifying before Chief Justice Hall of Suffolk Superior Court in her suit for divorce from Harry Kurian on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment, the woman admitted that she did not know anything concerning her husband's business.

The suit was not contested and Mrs. Kurian was granted a decree nisi. The Kurians were married in 1920. The wife, a decided blond, testified that for a time after the marriage all went well. Then Harry took to staying out late nights and when she spoke to him about it, he struck her.

"What is your husband's business?" inquired the court.

"I do not know," was the reply. "You don't know what your husband does for a living?" "No."

'GYPSY' BUT RECOVERS HIS $470

"Lucky Ed" From Maine Matched Coins With Strangers; 2 Arrests

Ed. S. Dignos stepped off the train from Maine. Two dapper youths bumped him as he threaded the crowd at North Station. They apologized and then—

Well, Ed always knew he was lucky, so when they set down the State House arch on Myrtle street he didn't mind a bit when they suggested matching coins.

His luck seemed to have fled and shortly he was just $470 out and he was wondering how he would get back to Maine, when—

Captain James McDevitt of Joy street station, on route to work, reached over and grabbed John Wade, thirty-three, of New Britain, Ct., and Thomas A. Slade, twenty-nine, of Providence.

They were on their way to Joy street station when Ed Dignos, a Maine native, was picked up and taken to the police station.

They were booked on charges of conspiracy to steal.

The investigation into the proposed auctioning of the old school administration building in Mason street is under way. It was begun by Councilor George F. Gilbody and Henry E. Hagan, irrespective of the Finance Commission, which is also planning an investigation.

Mayor Curley, it has been learned, wrote to Dr. Frederick L. Bogan of the school committee urging that the property be started at not less than $400,000.

START THIS BIG, NEW STORY TODAY

Moma Feunass, young, beautiful and the wife of a consulting engineer, has been told by her physician, Hob Osterhout, who is in love with her, that she has only a short time to live. Moma gives a gay party, telling Pat to go to bed, but the latter borrows a sister's dress, steals downstairs and has "a taste of life." Come goes to a dance at the club and takes too much punch. She is brought home by Fred Browning, with whom she had uneventfully spent the night. Sel Thorpe gives Pat a "real" kiss. Moma dies and Constance receives a call from Gary Scott, her mother's first admirer. Scott is much taken with Pat. A party is planned for the Dangerfield's, to christen the new swimming pool. A thunder storm puts out the lights and the guests go into the water without clothes. The modestly hostesses on the balcony and then the lights come on, revealing her in a blinding glare. One of the bathers is saved from drowning by Gary Scott. Wollaston, the electrician who turned on the lights, is a friend of Doc's. Osterhout writes a letter to the dead Moma in which he worries about Pat's future. Scott takes Pat to the Symphony.

NOW GO ON WITH THIS ENTHRALLING STORY. Back copies may be secured at the Boston American office free.

CHAPTER XVI

"A VERY good idea," granted Osterhout. "Pat's a comely little fellow. But don't keep my infant out too late, Scott."

"All right, Pat," returned Scott with meek deference, as the older man left.

"How long are you waiting?" demanded Pat of her escort. "I can't wait at all. My car's waiting at the beach now. Pat's thimble-finger fell. But I can't go this way."

"Why not? I like you that way."

"But you're always so awfully correct. I look like a mess."

"You look like a—has searched for and found the picture—like a medieval page."

Pat made a grimace. "Yes. A boy. In frank unconsciousness she set her hands with spread finger against her breasts. 'Pat, like a boy,' she said disconsolately.

"I like it," he reassured her. "It's part of the charm."

She gave her characteristic soft smile of pleasure. "That's the nicest thing you could possibly say to me. Do you mean it? Really?"

"I thought men liked girls to be just the other way. All rounded. 'She peered at him doubtfully. 'Perhaps it's because you're old,' she murmured.

Taken back for the moment he interpreted the innocent speech too literally. 'I'm not as old as that. Though I don't suppose—' I rather wonder what you meant by that."

"Oh, nothing. Just that the point of view must be different. Isn't it? Less personal."

"It's very personal in this case," he retorted with a real smile.

TWO YEARS FOR JUDGE SPEEDS LIQUOR BRIBE; $20,000 FINE TRIALS

New York, June 21.—Charles and Ralph Schuchman, brothers, Samuel (Sam) and Louis Katz, recently convicted of attempting to bribe Federal Probation Officers, were today sentenced by Judge Morris to two years in the Atlanta penitentiary and fined $20,000 each.

The Federal judge who was convicted of paying to Federal Agents for liquor withdrawal permits was imprisoned and became the property of the government. It is not to be applied on the same.

Prosecution enforcement agents told the judge they had seen Morris and Holcomb riding around in an automobile on Tuesday, apparently on an investigation.

Cohen and Holcomb are accused of operating a moonshine plant on the old Cape Fear river, near Marlboro, N.C.

Knox Baker, proprietor of a shoe shining parlor at East Baltimore, was freed today by Judge Morris today for possession of two pairs of shoes.

The strikers' latest participants of the first strike are being discriminated against.

FRANK L. GOODWIN

Frank L. Goodwin, Boston, the five-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Plausse, of Whitman, was run down by the automobile of Charles Burgess, No. 100 Clifton avenue, Brockton, while playing in the street in front of her home. Rosanna lived with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Plausse, No. 25 Broad street, Whitman.

She was taken to the Brockton Hospital, where she died from her injuries.

"Mothers," repeated Mr. Goodwin, "here is another example, pathetic as were all the fatalities of the imperative duty of warning your children against automobiles."

"Off you live where your children must play in the street, warn them when they see an automobile approaching to run up on the sidewalk."

"Let them see to cross the street (and they have looked both ways and made sure no auto are approaching."

JAZZ BAND FOR MOTHER FALLS TWO STORIES WITH BABY

A two-year-old South Boston baby and its mother, who had the child tightly clutched in her arm, fell from the second story window of their home to the back porch of the baby was unhurt. The mother received a bad cut on the head.

The injured woman is Mrs. Anna Kramanuskas, thirty-eight years old, of No. 149 Silver street, South Boston. The baby's name is Peter.

A scopped his car, rushed over and picked up the unconscious form of Mrs. Kramanuskas.

When the police ambulance from the Alhambra street station arrived to take Mrs. Kramanuskas to the hospital she refused to go, saying that she was afraid of hospitals and that she was alright.

Questioned as to the cause of the accident, the woman said: "I was standing near the window trying to look my baby when I was seized with a fainting spell. Although I felt myself falling I could do nothing. The last I can remember is that I landed on the bricks."

The program has something scheduled for every minute. Marcus Low has promised that Hyde Park orchestra will go along in the band and inspiration for the band and to render a special concert at the beach. The band of the "Molly Darling" company will be there with some of its talented associates.

This outing is for the disabled who are neither so sick nor so badly injured as to require assistance in getting about. The boys who are in bad shape, about 100, are to be the special guests of Louis Fuller, at his home at Rye Beach, a statue commemorates the sale of the same day late in August or early in September.

LOSE FIGHT FOR TWO JUDGES

By ED. W. SMITH
Copyright 1933 by the Evening Phoenix
Great Falls, Mont., June 21.—There was a chance a short time ago there might be an insistence on the part of the Tom Gibbons people for two judges as well as a referee for the battle of July the fourth.

The general opinion among the sports-fans was that Jim Thompson of Leavenworth, Penn., who generally is checked off as a force of the big battle on the hold, in going to be the man who will favor Thompson, two much.

There will be a lot of men in the ring on the afternoon of the contest. That this is an old but dangerous fight is little doubt. The fight was left open to only two officers as the other being Tom Gibbons of the Fraser who name was thrown away as a sop to little Mr. Gibbons manager, and merely to make it look good.

Think for Yourself

Don't Be Servile, Taking Other Men and Other People's Ideas at a False Valuation

Copyright, 1922, Hearst Company

The brain in your head is the result of hundreds of thousands of years of evolution and education on this earth.

That BRAIN IS given you that you may DECIDE FOR YOURSELF what is true, what is false, what is important and what is unimportant.

About one man in a thousand actually uses, in forming opinions, the thinking power, the power of discrimination, that is given to him.

The other nine hundred and ninety-nine simply go along old, beaten paths. Where others bow low, THEY bow low. Where others look scornful, THEY look scornful.

Most of us think and act more like sheep than like men. One sheep at the head uses his pretty feeble brain and the others do what he does.

As a result, we are not ready for new ideas when they come. We are not ready to recognize real genius when it appears.

And it is true today, as it was when Emerson wrote, that every man bringing to the world a message worth while is misunderstood because of our stupid reverence for the past and our dullness to new truth.

Pythagoras was misunderstood and Socrates and Jesus and Luther and Copernicus and Galileo and Newton and every pure and wise spirit that ever took flesh. To be great is to be misunderstood.

Naturally, human beings must profit by the discoveries of those that preceded them. We don't throw away the law of gravitation, or axioms in geometry, or the multiplication table because they were used by men before us.

The trouble with us is that we hang on to our prejudices, our foolish reverence for vacuity, more desperately than the most important truths given us by science.

The thing for you to do, young men—yes, mean men up to seventy, for all ought to be young until then and even later—is to KNOW WHY YOU THINK AS YOU DO THINK.

For instance, admire only things that YOU KNOW ABOUT. Look up to those of whom YOU KNOW THAT THEY HAVE REALLY DONE SOMETHING WORTHY OF ADMIRATION.

Don't let other people form your opinions for you. Don't accept your opinions ready-made, like a pair of rubber boots.

Make up your mind to know WHY you believe a thing. WHY you look up to an individual. WHY you accept the opinions going round.

This is important, not merely to your own self-respect and manhood, BUT TO YOUR POSSIBILITIES OF GROWTH, your possibilities of doing something worth while.

Men that have succeeded owe their success to the fact that they refused to take difficulties for granted, to take opinions for granted, or to take CONDITIONS for granted. They determined to decide things for themselves. They found new ways, they found new possibilities, they added their names to the list that have done something.

Keep DOUBT in your mind always. We give you below a quotation to paste up. It was supplied by Bolingbroke, a man of wonderful ability, almost a great man—the individual who supplied the philosophical thought with which Pope seasoned his poetry.

He knew enough to appreciate the value of original thought and research; he knew that doubt is essential to knowledge, and he put it well. This is what he said:

"Doubt is the key of knowledge. He who never doubts never examines. He who never examines discovers nothing. He who discovers nothing is blind and will remain so."

As long as you live, DOUBT. Question, deny, verify. Be able to say, "I think so, BECAUSE I HAVE THOUGHT ABOUT IT." I admire him, BECAUSE I HAVE STUDIED HIS LIFE."

"Seek and ye shall find. Knock and it shall be opened unto you."

"PROVE all things. Hold fast that which is good." These are two texts for those that may desire biblical sanction for man's chief intellectual quality, DOUBT.

Strange Cannibals

They Are Deeply Religious

Copyright, 1922, Hearst Company

A cable message says France worries about cannibalism in the Kamerun, the part of Africa that France took from Germany after the war. Down there certain blacks, a secret society, call themselves "Leopards," and act the part.

Wearing leopard skins, they lie in wait, kill their fellow blacks and devour them.

The man-eating is part of their religion, curiously enough. Another interesting fact is that the cannibals are the finest specimens among the natives. Plenty of protein and vitamins explain their physical superiority, according to scientists.

Among native blacks we have trials for murder because the natives put to death people "no longer useful." We are none of us far from the savagery of the Kamerun or Alaska.

But we are improving. In Sparta the finest youths of the land were trained to hide before dawn at the roadside. They would spring upon and murder the agricultural slave workers. We've got beyond that and only kill each other after declaring war.

Deep English Dredger

He Offers a Good Suggestion

Copyright, 1922, Hearst Company

Some English newspaper men who are very deep, begin to suspect that America is using her liquor law to interfere with British shipping. Says the London Morning Post: "We believe that America must respect our time about paying us rather better if we acted strictly on the principle of behaving to HER as she behaves to US."

It isn't a bad suggestion, and England might begin by lending us four or five thousand millions of dollars without any security and allowing us to take our time about paying it back. She might tax her own people heavily to raise money to be sent to the United States. That's what the United States government did to the people of the United States in order to send money to England.

England is annoyed at our impertinence in presuming to have an American marine. But England is philosophical, and will get used to it.

BISCUIT 100 YEARS OLD OR MORE

PERU, Ind., June 21.—An Indian biscuit believed to be more than one hundred years old has been added to the collection of Indian and pioneer relics in the Miami County Museum. It was placed up by Frank H. Hanks.

The biscuit is a deep paunch stuffed with a mixture of maize, Indian corn, and the husks of stuffed deer paunches in days of plenty, to be dug up in burning days.

Editor Boston American:

Pacificists take peace when there is no peace. Should America disarm? As Washington said, "From our peculiar situation as a Republic we must be prepared." If an individual possessing gold or valuables upon his person is a weakling, unprotected, he will be open to the attack of the thief and robber, while the man with a like amount of gold or valuables armed with the strength of an athlete or carrying the latest make of arms and ammunition would be safe in comparison. It is true that the man of wealth carrying arms for his own protection is looking for trouble and must be chased with the thief and robber because of this? Has our country as far back as any of this generation can trace been out with a chip on the shoulder, looking for trouble or more worlds to conquer? If not, then why do so-called Americans want to avert from the well-beaten path and talk about disarming when the whole world is armed or arming?

The disarming of America could change people's hearts. Let us be reasonable about these things and keep our army and navy up to the highest point of efficiency, and then we can talk peace to the world.

WORDS FROM THE LIPS OF WISE MEN

THE laws obey custom.

Little meddling comes great ease.

Rebuke with soft words and hard arguments.

An indolent man draws his breath but does not live.

He who gets done much, but he who keeps does more.

Mischief comes by the pound and goes away by the ounce.

Let a man sleep in until she gets a headache.

I want to thank you for sending me the address of C. E. W. She sent me some lovely clothes. You certainly are doing a wonderful work. I honestly think that those of us fortunate who have been helped through your efforts are in a new world. I am able to help to repay the kindness shown me. MRS. W. M.

Will Pay for Work

Editor Helping Hand:

I could keep someone busy for several weeks who could to some credit work for me. I have about two dozen women's vests and a pair of trousers and will pay a fair price to any vest or anyone who would care to make them. Will you let me know to do the work. C. H. 2.

Bed and Baby Carriage

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a good white iron bed, spring and mattress. I would give to Mrs. M. F. if she doesn't like too far. I also have a baby carriage that might do for her.

THERE'S JUST ONE MASTER'S VOICE FOR GERMANY

By HERBERT KAUFMAN

PONCARE tightens saddle girths. The Senate, by a vote of 170 to 118, endorses his determination to exact the full of 35,000,000,000 gold marks, no matter what sum is finally decided upon in total satisfaction of reparations.

France will take what bites she pleases at the apple of discord and the allies may have the core, or leave it.

As to the Ruhr, no interference by concert of powers or individual governments will be tolerated.

Secretary Hughes simply wastes ink and paper on mediation plans. There is just one master's voice for Germany, and it is at Paris.

Twenty-six billion gold marks, we are told, aren't sufficient to cover the cost of depredations, much less pay off loans from America and Great Britain.

We can both whistle for our money if Berlin doesn't produce it or if the lion doesn't relinquish an equivalent share of indemnity to chancellor.

Chanticleer's Far-Reaching Crow

Messrs. Hastythought and Snappindignity, impressed by Quil d'Oray calculations, are reminded to look beyond their noses and consider the increased value of redeemed provinces through Teuton investment and development, not to mention the enormous colonial wealth transferred from enemy possession.

The tri-color now flows over the second largest empire in the world. Victory has added vast reaches almost equal in combined area to the United States—virgin territory, untouched by plough or axe—fabulously rich in ores and fibres, and nature alone knows what petroleum and radio-active deposits.

Another generation must stand at that vast counter with its market baskets. Civilization can't long depend upon accessible supplies of raw materials.

Birds in the Hand and in the Bush

Thanks to aeroplane, wireless, tractor and pathology, Africa, of which we know the least, but may expect the most, will soon team with settlements, its wilds available to agriculture and industry, and its waterfalls furnishing electrical energy for the entire dark continent and much of Europe besides.

Only imagination can guess how much gold, cordage, timber and oil substances in there. Her fertile soils will produce rubber, tobacco, cotton and tropical yields beyond all present supplies.

She'll fill your automobile tanks and her fuels will provide your furnaces all the time.

Before the final installment of the British debt is in our treasury, France shall have collected from war-won lands alone more, far more, than she has ever lost on home battlefields. Versailles did very well for her Gallie friends. They've a bird in the hand as well as the one in the bush.

The Case of Hans Schmidt

Hans Schmidt, Munich-born, emigrated to Wisconsin, and after six years accumulated a fortune to buy a little farm.

In 1913 he sold his property for $35,000 and returned to Bavaria, where he invested his funds in ten-year industrial bonds.

They fell one day this week. He received one dollar's worth of marks in full legal settlement.

Pure fiction, and yet outright fact.

The once safest currency in the universe is now so dishonored that a penny will purchase 1,400 pieces of paper formerly worth $50.

Thank Heaven that you live in the land of the almighty greenback, and always remember it won't be so slumgily if we needed in foreign polities.

To the Wise Men of Gotham

Put not your faith in exchange and extend doubts to letters of credit until Federal Reserve banks require guarantees of their security from issuing institutions.

Knauth, Machod & Kuhns, for over a half a century pillars of international finance, delay liquidation of fast-inflation assets are caught in the fall of the mark and krona, and smashed flat.

What Shall the Morrow Bring Forth

Take nothing for granted; worms turn and even owls gore.

Placid boys, ambling from the pasture, attacks a New Jersey woman and seriously horns her before help arrives.

Japanese students, traditional canons folder, unexpectedly rebel against an army scheme for compulsory training, denounce soldiers as butchers and murderers and inform General Shirakawa that "blood drips from his decorations."

Where democracy grows, militarism goes.

Universal and Standard Oil companies clash in an infringement suit over Dabb's process for cracking guaiacs. Armour interests ask for $300,000,000 damages. Depend upon it, the inventor's royalties won't reach 5 per cent. of the amount claimed. Wizards are all Dubs when it comes to appreciating their own worth.

On again, off again, gone again! Secretary Mellon's experts find that foreign currencies are legally entitled to a dietary liquor. No man, however, knoweth "what the morrow shall bring forth."

Justice also rides the see-saw. The appellate division of New York State Supreme Court, acting in the Ward case incidentally, overrules lower tribunals and upholds the right of telegraph companies to preserve the secrecy of messages.

Let's hope that the Supreme bench confirms that principle that a private communication as well as a home is a man's castle.

There's far too much searing and seizing nowadays for ancestral conception of a republic.

Love bandits appear around Albany. Masked scoundrels stop automobiles at the point of the gun, rob occupants, intimidate mail coaches, and ride away with their women.

Fifty persons are plundered in broad daylight and within twenty-four hours by Manhattan strong-arms. If the police did their searching and seizing along the highways and byways we'd all applaud.
